

Biggie Smalls Kidd

April 28, 2014 - December 4, 2025

April 28, 2014 - December 4, 2025

Biggie's story was a story of perseverance, strength and survival. Biggie was originally known as Midnight by his previous owners. He came to be with his new pet mom in June 2022. It was a rough start as "Midnight" had not experienced human love and companionship in the past. After hard work and showing lots of love, Midnight was "reborn" as Biggie Smalls.

He became a best friend, a protector and a part of his new family in whole. Biggie was smart and loving (to his mom). Biggie enjoyed lake time and boat time with his mom. Biggie LOVED to eat!

Biggie was a true testament of the power of LOVE.

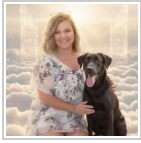

The last 3.5 years of Biggie's life has been full of love and joy.

Biggie, I love you and already miss you so much. You think I saved you but in reality you saved me! You showed me the power of love and brought joy to my life.

Forever by your side, Mom.

He is survived by his pet parents Brandy Delaplane-Kidd and Mike Kidd, human sibling, Dakota and pet siblings, Leo and Koa. He is also survived by his Nana, Mary Jo Havens.

“ Love you get over in two months, big love you get over in two years, and great love, well great love... changes your life. “ what Biggie and I had is GREAT LOVE. Thank you, Biggie for allowing me to love you and for loving me! I miss you soooo much. So much of my whole life revolved around you daily that I’m lost and trying to figure out what to do. Having you back home has brought me a little peace. I will see you again one day and I’ll grab you and hold you in my arms! I love you.

“ As Biggie became more and more comfortable and trusting, we had a bond like no other! He would finally jump in my lap, let my pet and pat him. He started getting in my bed with me. I sand him a song EVERY DAY! That song was “What Love Really Means” (great song...look it up!) It was our song. I was showing him what love really means and he was showing me what the power of love can do. I wish that I had more time with Biggie but I am so grateful that I had him for the time that I did. There will never be another Biggie. I will never have the kind of love and bond that I had with Biggie. One of a kind.

“ One day I said “Today is the day. I’m letting him out and we will see what happens.” With cheese loaded in my hand for a backup plan, I opened that gate and told Biggie to go run and stretch. He did! I didn’t approach him or make sudden movements, I just let him be. When it was time for him to go back in and just said “CHEESE!!” And he went back in for his cheese. I did this for quite some time until one day I was waiting on him to do his thing and he approached me! I was scared but try not to show it. To my surprise, he simply wanted to play! He began weaving in out of my legs, nudging me and bringing me toys!! I cried so many happy tears that day!! After a week of this, I loved Biggie inside the home! No more living outside for him! I had to do some altercations in my home to be sure the little dogs were safe but we made it work!

“ Every day for hours I would sit in a chair by his pen feeding him cheese (used to be his favorite) and talking to him. I let him know that I was not an enemy. I attempted a couple of times to let him out but he was still ready to attack me so I had to abort the mission at that time.

“ Midnight didn’t come to me as a friendly, loving dog. He was scared, confused and did not trust humans at all! He tried to bite me several times. He had to be in a pen within a pen when he first arrived. I couldn’t stand seeing him pinned up. I made it my goal to show this baby love and earn his trust.

“ I have soooo many memories! Starting the day he came to live with me. He was going to be “put down” because he was mean/vicious and had nowhere to go. I said “over my dead body! That baby deserves a chance to have a life of love! You bring him here and I will figure it out!” With building a little private castle in our side yard for “Misnight”, the work began. I’ll continue on another post!

“ We were at the lake and he kept looking sideways at me. He was trying to trick Brandy to come over to me.

I was Biggies Nana and I loved this 4 legged grandson . I was so happy that he found a forever, loving home with his new mommy Brandy.

She loved Biggie with every fiber and n her body and I know Biggie runs with Jesus full of peace and Joy.

I love and will miss you Biggie.
