

Boo Schroeder

July 24, 2020 - August 1, 2025

Boo, aka Boosie and Boosie Boy, was a beacon of joy, spreading love and fur wherever he went. Born on 7/24/2020, he received his angel wings on 8/1/2025, leaving behind a legacy of unforgettable memories. His remarkable purr, a symphony of happiness, touched the hearts of everyone around him. With a heart full of love, Boo showered his family with cuddles and affection, bringing immense joy to Mason, Kali, Kenzlee, and Callahan. His love extended to his Mimi, Aunt Joy, and grandparents Randy and Teresa, who adored him just the same. Boo's zest for life was contagious, and his daily routines brought structure and happiness to those around him. Starting at 7 a.m. every morning, he would start meowing for breakfast. By 8 a.m., he was out the door, as he would not use his litter box to go #2 ever. He would return around 4 p.m. every night for evening cuddles and dinner. His favorite pastimes, from chasing laser lights to bird-watching, were a testament to his adventurous spirit. Boo loved when his dad would place his hand under a blanket for Boo to attack, showcasing his ferocious side. He also loved to lay on the floor and protect the children and his mom during bath time, as he thought water was very scary for his humans! Though he may be gone, Boo's memory will live on, inspiring us to cherish every moment and spread love wherever we go. His family's favorite memories would start with the day he was adopted; he wouldn't let them leave the shelter without him, wrapped between their legs and holding on to hope they'd fall in love with him as he had already chosen them. Every day with Boo was literally the best. We miss him dearly.
