

Daisy Pope

November 11, 2024

Daisy ("Daisy May", "Daisy-kit", and "Daisy kitty") Pope passed on November 11th 2024.

She is survived by her pet parent, Andy; human siblings: Arianna (Daisy's older sister) and Andrew (Daisy's older brother); pet siblings: Bella (Bulldog), Skky (Cat), and Frankie (Dachshund), and her cat-husband, Tigger.

Daisy's favorite toys were Laser Pointers and her Crazy Catnip Pants. She loved to cuddle, look out the window, sleep, beg for food, sit on the counter, run around, and lay on her sister's chromebook. She disliked baths. Daisy's favorite places to sleep were on her sister, on stacks of paper and/or mail, blankets, the couch, under her sister's bed, or with her dad.

Some of my favorite memories with Daisy was when she would always cuddle with me while I was on facetime with my friends, or lay on my chromebook whilst I was playing video games. She loved to stand on my back as I walked around the house and she would hop off when she desired. Sometimes we would turn on the videos for cats that had toys on the screen and she would start watching it and trying to slap the tv screen, she preferred the string and laser pointer videos, and one time she actually knocked my tv over. A while ago, my friend and I married Daisy to her cat, Tigger, I bought her a bandana and we had a zoom meeting for the wedding, Daisy was certainly not amused but it was adorable. When she was a younger cat, she would always claw the curtains and hide behind them, sometimes she also tried to climb up them, and multiple times she would rip a hole in the bottom of the couch and crawl into it and we would spend so long trying to get her out. Overall, Daisy was a beautiful, caring kitty who was loved by everyone, I am glad I was given the honor to call her my cat.
