

Maddie Mae Atkins

August 25, 2009 - May 12, 2020

Maddie Mae Atkins (“Sissy”, “Baby Girl”) was the fur baby of George and Judi Atkins. She was born August 25, 2009, in Greenwood, Indiana.

Maddie’s favorite toys were her balls, green worm and owl. She liked to hit the ball between her mom and dad, and enjoyed going to the bank for doggy treats! Her least favorite thing to do was have her groomer cut her toenails or clean her ears. Maddie’s favorite place to sleep was at the foot of her mom and dad’s bed.

Some of George and Judi’s favorite memories over 10+ years included Maddie’s love of trick or treat at Halloween and helping nephew Cody pass out candy. Maddie had a set time for bed or being fed. She would “bug” her pet parents until she got her way! She wanted her face washed after she ate, and her beard dried after she got a drink. Maddie was very, very smart and protective of her daddy.

In addition to her pet parents, Maddie is survived by human brothers, Todd and Scott, and their wives, Jenny and Ginger. Other family and friends include Aunt Sheryl and Uncle Mick; Alexis and Cody, human niece and nephew; and neighbors, Chick and Lucy.

*She always moped after we left, because she loved having all her people around her.
We're all going to miss her.*
