

Marley Wilson

February 10, 2021

My Marley,

Words cannot describe how heartbroken I am to have lost you and how much I miss you. Sometimes, you forget to treasure the little moments, and life goes by so fast until it stops you dead in your tracks. You were going to celebrate your 9th birthday in May. You were much too young. I thought we had at least 4 more good years together. You were a unique character, so many unique traits so unlike for a golden. You protected me and I protected you. We were Bonnie and Clyde. That was engraved in my brain when the behaviorist said that about us. And he was right. You don't know how much you'll miss someone until they're gone.

We did everything together. I was dreading the day this would happen. It all went so fast in the end. I didn't know you had cancer, and to that extent. You were just a big puppy inside, full of life. A strong boy never showing pain, I wish you would have in the end, just maybe we would have had a fighting chance.

I know you were willing to fight to stay with me. I saw it in your eyes. But I couldn't let you go through all those surgeries and pain just for me to have you around another few months. I knew time was there when you stopped drinking and deteriorating right in front of my eyes, helplessly watching time go by, and so, your life. I'm sorry my sweet boy. I wanted to fix you so badly. Only after seeing the ultrasound, I knew the time I was dreading so much was here. I didn't leave your side that day. As hard as it was for me to watch, I didn't want you to go without me. It was my turn to protect you. I let you go because I love you. I always will.

You were my first dog, and you'll always have a special place in my heart. I've been watching videos and looking at pictures of you every day since. Even though I miss you terribly, I have to smile when I see them. You always made me smile. I'm grateful we were able to take you swimming one last time in the fall of 2020, seeing you with the other dogs, running like no tomorrow and happy. I never would have thought you had a tumor growing in you that would, in the end, take up all your energy. If I could've taken that cancer from you instead, I would have in a heartbeat, just to have you back in my life.

I miss you, Marley. Very much. And I'm thankful to have been given the chance to be your mom. The bond we had, I never would have thought was possible. We didn't need words. Just a look. You were so smart. I know you are having the time of your life running and catching balls. And just like I told you on our last day – it's not goodbye, it's I will see you soon. I love you, Marley.
Always.

“ Marley . I miss you so much . Last few nights have been especially hard . Ok trying not to cry again but I just miss you . I wish I could hold you again . It's been 3 years . I wish I could go back in time when you was alive and for once not feel this empty void in my heart . I'd give anything to get you back . I love you Marley. More than you'll ever know . And I'm crying again . Love you Marley . Always.

“ Marley ! I haven't checked in in a while but I always talk to you but you know that . I did want to show you what I had done for you . I love you marmar . Always have and always will .
But also I know you've been stopping by since 2 weeks in a butterfly form . You keep landing on the ball and ball thrower . I know it's you and what was funny I had just told Duston about you visiting me again and then you sent the sign on the picture frame !!! I knew it .
Your around . More than for a long time . I know it's cause I was still very heavily grieving . I still miss you more than words can ever express but I'm ok . As ok as I will get , as I'm typing this tearing up . I love you . I just wanted to say thank you for the signs . I know you'll always be with me . I just wish I could see you and hold you again . Ok I have to go . I'm starting to cry and I really need to get some sleep and I can't sleep when I'm all clogged up . You know this . I love you Marley . I miss you . Please keep visiting me. It makes me happy .love you , mom

“ I really miss you Marley . I'd lie if I said it gets easier because it hasn't . My heart is still shattered and I don't think it'll ever be the same . I almost died in December Marley . I was having a heart attack with a 100% and 95% blockage and they couldn't get it unclogged . But I know you know . You were there being my guardian Angel . Even tho I was conscious and knew my time could come to an end , I was ok. The first thing I thought was I'll see you again . I was at peace with that . I miss you . I wish I could see you and hold you again. Time moved on but my heart hasn't . I love you .
