Dear baby dog,

I can't believe this time had to come. The hardest day of my life. It feels like yesterday I picked you out at the shelter and you became my instant best friend. You have touched so many lives and have been that best friend for so many people. I truly think you were specially picked just for me. To help me through the hardest parts of life and know that I would always have a friend no matter how many times I moved, how many roommates I had, how many random dogs I brought home or how much I had to work you still showed the most unconditional love. I hope you are laying in the sun and swimming as much as you want now. I will never forget you Milo Filo. I will love you forever.

Your best friends

Taylor and James

And of course your brother and sister Mae, Annabelle and Murphy.
