

Missy Madara

August 25, 2023

Missy was a really strong cat. She came from a shelter and wasn't afraid to show her attitude. When I first adopted her, she immediately started purring and rubbing her head against me. She didn't like pictures and almost always looked angry in them. She was so sweet and friendly toward people.

Her favorite toys were wand toys. She was obsessed with pencils and would try to play with them while I'm writing. I always called her my Baby Girl, Little Miss, and Little Missy Loudmeowth because of how vocal she was. She never cared what anyone thought. She never even softened her meow until the very end.

I love you so much, Missy. Rest now, because I promise you will get so many hugs and kisses when I see you again. I miss you, Baby Girl.

Tribute Wall

“ 1 file added to the album Missy Madara

Loyal and True - August 31, 2023 at 09:22 AM

Beautiful girl, so sorry for your loss

Clara D Cramer - September 01, 2023 at 09:47 AM