

Perseus Schoolcraft

February 27, 2020

Perseus Schoolcraft was born in May 2013 and received his “gotcha” date in June 2013 to pet mom, Amanda and his human brother, Jaymes. His nicknames included Purge and Pers.

As told by Perseus’s point of view....

“I loved to chase tennis balls, but I didn’t always like to bring them back. Now squeaky toys, I tried to get that squeaker out as fast as I could. Oh, and those toys my humans would give me filled with fluff, oh I loved to see how much fluff one toy had. BUT my most favorite toy was my human mom’s jacket or sweatshirt sleeve. I would play tug of war with it. My human mom would laugh so hard at me.

My favorite activities included getting treats from my human grandma, eating snowballs my uncle would throw me, chasing cats (oh, it was so much fun until they would chase me back), giving lots of kisses to everyone, especially my humans: mom, brother and cousins (though sometimes I would knock them down because I was so happy to give them kisses). I also loved posing for pictures my momma or aunt would take of me. I liked to leave surprises in grandpa’s yard, but I told my humans they had to clean it.

I loved to cuddle with my human mom or brother, but they always would hog my blankets...I loved to sleep under all the comfy blankets.

A few of my favorite memories were sleeping in blanket forts my human brother would build, opening gifts during holidays or birthdays (it was so much fun shredding all that paper!), sleepovers and rope tug of war with my human friends Katie and Kasey.”
