

Ruddle Simpson

June 6, 2019 - January 17, 2020

Ruddle Simpson, beloved fur baby of Donald and Heather Simpson, crossed over the Rainbow Bridge on January 17, 2020. Born in Muncie, Indiana, Ruddle had two special nicknames; "Ruddle Tootie Little Cutie" and "Small and in Charge Pretty Boy".

Ruddle was born in June 2019 to his mom, Rue Rue, and his dad, Leo. Ruddle's brother was Dirky Simpson. Besides his human pet mom and dad, his uncle Darryl was his best buddy.

His favorite activity was running around with his brother and human daddy, having tons of fun outside! His pet dad, Donald, was the best at throwing the ball. Ruddle could also talk; he could tell you "yes" or "no" and "uh huh". His parents always loved that about him. Ruddle enjoyed his ball and blanket as well as playing with his pet mom's hair.

Ruddle loved to play outside, but didn't like it when his mom or dad whistled and told the fur kids it was time to come in! His favorite place to sleep was in his mom and dad's bed (beep-beep, Ruddle Tootie is coming in!). He made them make room for him and he also enjoyed sleeping in the recliner.

As Ruddle's pet mom, Danielle, shared, "We love every memory of Ruddle. But the most precious memory I have is when he was three or four weeks old.

He was so tiny, his brothers could get on the bed, but he couldn't, so he would stand on his back legs and cry until I heard him from my sleep." One of his dad's favorite memories is waking up to Ruddle crying because he had a stick; he wasn't done fixing it, so he jumped on the chair, leapt into the air and snatched the stick!
