Serena

May 2014 - Dec 2023

Dear Sweet Serena,

RIP Serena Houdini Bickel. Thank you for the love, joy, and companionship you brought into our lives. We will always cherish the memories of your independent adorable attitude. From the first time we brought you home, you quickly showed us some of your talents. As you would be sitting in one spot, disappear then quickly reappear like you were there the whole time. This is how you received your middle name, "Houdini". Our favorite trick you would perform was when we would ask you, "Where's your belly?" You would flop down, roll on your back sprawled out showing us your belly; then, we would rub your belly. You loved it!

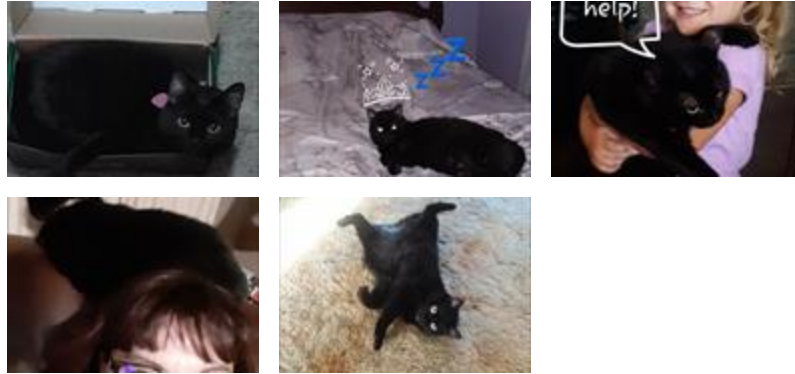

You are no longer there when I come home to greet me. You are no longer there when I get ice from the frig wanting me to drop a small piece for you to play with. You are no longer there when I sit in my chair to comfort me. Black cats are thought to be spiritual guardians and protectors due to their connection to goddesses in mythology and folklore. We will always be connected to you and very lucky to have had you in our lives. You left paw prints on our hearts sweet Serena. We think of you all the time and miss you every day! Until we meet again at the 'purry' gates, we all love you and miss you every day!

Aaaw Serena was one very special fur baby. She had an one of a kind personality she actually grew closer to me and I miss seeing her when I come into visit my sister and brother in law house. I would be looking for her to be right there with her hissing welcome. Lol. Love you miss you sweet girl ❤️
