

Spock The Brave Tribby

March 13, 2018

"Today I celebrate the life of a titan named Spock the Brave. My little buddy was about three years old. His life was a difficult one as he struggled with epilepsy, and many other complications as a result of this condition and the medication used to treat it. He came into my life as a foster after being surrendered at the shelter due to his medical condition, and was later adopted. Spocky refused to let his disabilities be a limitation on his life and his purpose -- his mission. And through his courage and absolute tenacity, he inspired me to reclaim my own path -- my mission. It was this inspiration that taught me how to begin healing my own wounds and disabilities associated with PTSD, which then led me to begin volunteering at the shelter. His legacy shall persist through my life and my actions as I continue to advocate for those at the shelters who have been abandoned and cast aside by society. I salute my friend Spock the Brave, CEO of Hotel Bravo and titan among men. May your spirit find its way to The Great Dragon Tree and the halls of our ancestors. We will meet again."
