

TJ Boyer

January 13, 2025

TJ Boyer (my big beefy boy, my dj TJ, the sweetest boy) TJ was born April 1st 2019 along with his 11 sisters, one of which was his best friend, Roxy. He was our best and only boy out of all of the puppies. His mom, Jemma, had and he was named after his dad Tank, but TJ was so much more than that. He was his own sweet, loving, caring boy that loved so hard. He loved playing with his sister and cuddling anyone that let him, he was such a lover. I miss his face and the unconditional love he would look at you with, that you could see in his eyes from miles away. He was so goofy at times, scratching his butt on anything he could or sitting directly in your lap, even though he was a big boy but he was just a baby. He loved shredded cheese sprinkled into his mouth, and he could go crazy with the whipped cream. One of my favorite memories was a time he jumped out of our kitchen window and got outside. He just started to look around and was so scared, like he didn't know where he was at. All of my memories are my favorite, and I'll cherish every single one. I just wish I cherished you more when you were still here and I wish you had more time, but I know you and walle are havin a blast runnin around together. I can't wait to see you again one day, but until then, we miss you so much TJ.

Tribute Wall

LT

“ 2 files added to the album TJ Boyer

Loyal and True - February 12, 2025 at 09:30 AM

KR

He was the sweetest biggest baby and so handsome. Sending you love my girl

krystal - February 12, 2025 at 02:12 PM