

Zeus Humes

February 28, 2015 - October 16, 2023

In the loving memory of our dear friend and loyal companion, Zeus, and with heavy hearts, we bid farewell to a gentle giant who graced our lives for eight and a half years. Zeus brought boundless joy and unconditional love to our home.

Zeus Humes, born February 28, 2015, passed away on October 16, 2023. Born into a litter of eight siblings, Russ and Jackie Humes of Middletown, Indiana chose him to become a permanent part of their family. Human siblings include Jessica, Chris, and Casey.

Through the vast landscapes of life, Zeus stood tall, embodying the true spirit of a St. Bernard—loyal, gentle, and compassionate. Those soulful eyes held a universe of understanding, and that massive heartbeat with warmth that touched everyone fortunate enough to know him.

In the face of adversity, Zeus faced osteosarcoma with remarkable courage, teaching us resilience and the power of love. His unwavering presence during both sunny days and stormy nights became a source of comfort and solace. From playful puppyhood to the dignified grace of senior years, Zeus enjoyed playing tug-of-war and sleeping on his bed in his parents' bedroom at night. The echoes of his slobbery kisses, the comforting weight of his massive paws, and the gentle rumble of his deep, comforting bark linger as cherished memories.

As we say our goodbyes, we find solace in knowing that Zeus is now free from pain, running joyously across fields of eternity. May his memory be a beacon of love and a reminder that the bond forged between humans and animals transcends the boundaries of time.

Rest in peace, dear Zeus. Your spirit will forever roam in the gardens of our hearts, and the love you gave will be a legacy that outlasts the pain of parting.

Tribute Wall

TG

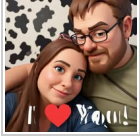

“ Zeus, What a Lucky handsome man. I didn't know him personally but I know he was Lucky enough to get you for his parents. We choose them or they choose us but they are never with us long enough. However long they are with us they leave a whole that will never be filled. They are in about every sense of the word our children. I do believe they are still around us , until we are again with them. Prayers to you and your family my friend. It's ok to cry Kroger for no reason (personal experience) Zeus is perfect now and will be waiting to greet you when it's time. ❤️❤️🙏🙏🙏🙏
Teresa Grubbs

Teresa Grubbs - October 20, 2023 at 05:04 PM

JA

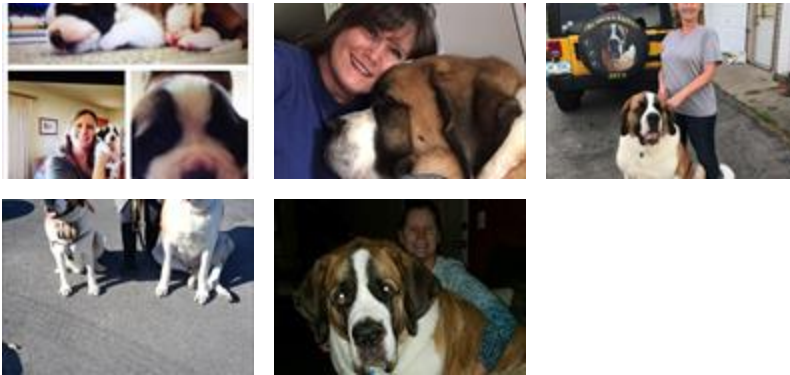

Thank you so much for you comments and post.

Jackie - October 20, 2023 at 06:04 PM

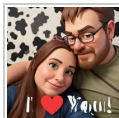

“ I would like to start off by saying we are so sorry. Here are some memories with Jackie (aka Mom). I remember the day she asked me to find her a St. Bernard. She told me she always wanted one. So, I really tried and it paid off after two weeks. I gave her all the contact information that day. She made all arrangements. So, we went on a very long car ride, mom spoke to the seller to see if she could separate the males from females. She already new she wanted a boy. Russ (aka dad) was looking and so was I, however mom fell in love with a puppy, and this is were love story began. Mom was his biggest fan, they were unseparable. Mom was proud of him. She showed off pictures of him. Her smile would light up a room when Zeus was by her side. As her love grew so did the bound. Zeus bright life to our family. He had a gentle soul and you could feel it everytime he walked into a room. He brought love and loyalty to our family. His love for us will never stop. See you in the next life Zeus. Now you will live with us through memories.

Love the Stone Family

Jessie Stephens - October 20, 2023 at 04:57 PM

Tap on pictures. I am unsure why my message didn't show up

Jessie Stephens - October 20, 2023 at 04:58 PM

CD

“ What beautiful tributes to your precious and wonderful Zeus! All of your words, from his obituary (Jackie I now think you should become an author!), to the comments left by other family members.... I cry for you all in reading them, as they are so very touching. My tears are brought about in both the joy of knowing what you all got to experience with Zeus, and also of sadness for having to say goodbye. I know Zeus was so very loved and so very spoiled...as he deserved to be. He was for sure a gentle giant... standing almost as tall as a horse, yet coming at you with, as Casey said, the gentleness of a kitten. I left there several times with lots of slobber on my jeans... Zeus's many nudges of welcome. He is already so missed, and will forever be loved by all who had the pleasure to know him! Hugs to my chosen family! Love you all.

Cindy DiGenova - October 20, 2023 at 01:17 PM

JH

“ 1 file added to the tribute wall

Jackie Humes - October 20, 2023 at 08:29 AM

CW

“ Zues was big, and strong like a warrior, with the temperament of a kitten. His patience was unmatched, and his love was spread far & wide. Although he was a Mama’s Boy, he was everyone’s buddy, and if you liked wet dog kisses and slobbery jeans, he was your guy. He stood tall, nearing my waist, yet would take the smallest treat from my hand with the gentleness of a butterfly. We miss you big guy, I hope you’re running through the fields of gold, chasing that bird you never could quite catch. 🐾🐾

Casey Whittaker - October 19, 2023 at 02:10 PM

JH

“ 1 file added to the tribute wall

Jackie Humes - October 19, 2023 at 12:11 PM

JH

Jackie's spare tire cover

Jackie Humes - October 19, 2023 at 04:11 PM

HB

“ Zeus had and will always have a place in my heart. He is what made Mamaw's house even more welcoming and fun than it already was. From the time we shared a birthday, to playing in the snow, Zeus has been my best friend, and a family member. May he enjoy the eternity of freedom.

Hayden Burris - October 19, 2023 at 12:03 PM